

PyCon Asia-Pacific

Singapore

Call for Papers

PyCon Asia Pacific represents the annual premier conference dedicated to the Python programming language for the Asia Pacific region (<http://apac.pycon.org>). PyCon APAC 2011 will be held from June 9th – 11th 2011 in Singapore.

The main conference days will be June 10 – 11th 2011, preceded by one tutorial day on June 9th 2011.

PyCon APAC 2011 is currently accepting talk proposals for the main conference. We encourage everyone - students, professional programmers, hackers, companies, etc to consider submitting talk proposals for PyCon APAC 2011.

Important Dates

- March 15, 2011 : Deadline for Proposal Submissions
- March 31, 2011 : Notification of Proposal Acceptance
- May 15, 2011 : Submission of Presentation/Paper
- June 9, 2011 : PyCon APAC Tutorial Day
- June 10-11, 2011 : PyCon APAC Conference Days

PyCon Topics

PyCon accepts a broad range of presentations, from reports on academic and commercial projects and case studies. Suitable topics include, but are not limited to:

- Web Programming (e.g Django, Web2Py, TurboGears)
- Python in Education, Science and Maths
- Business and Scientific Applications
- Python Libraries and Extensions
- Embedding and Extending Python
- Game Programming
- GUI Programming
- Network Programming
- Packaging Issues
- Programming Tools
- Project Best Practices
- System Administration
- Python Implementations: IronPython, Jython, PyPy and Stackless.

Proposal Submission

The primary presenter should submit a proposal. This is to help us make arrangements for reviewers and draft the conference programme. The proposal must include the following:

- Title of talk
- Description of the talk (min 150 words)
- Choice of one or more category tag
- Difficulty level i.e. beginner, intermediate or advanced.
- Permission for your talk to be recorded.
- The following personal details:
 - Vocation
 - Years of experience using Python

A template for submitting a talk proposal can be found at <http://apac.pycon.org/conference>

All proposals should be sent to conference@pugs.org.sg.

Presentation/Paper Submission

Presentation Submission

Once your proposal is accepted, we have made submissions easier for PyCon APAC in 2011. We will be accepting presentation slides for the conference. And for the benefit of attendees, we request for all slides to be annotated in the notes section unless slides are clearly explanatory. All presentations should be sent to conference@pugs.org.sg.

Paper Submission

For presenters who wish to submit papers, PyCon APAC will in addition accept full paper submissions for publication in The Python Paper Monograph series. Full paper submissions should contain all of the usual aspects of a paper such as an abstract, introduction, body and conclusion. The paper will be peer-reviewed by the programme committee and a notice of paper acceptance with review comments will be sent to the author(s). Accepted papers can be amended by the author(s) where applicable, taking into account reviewers' comments before re-submission for publication.

- All papers will be published in The Python Papers Monograph series (www.pythonpapers.org). We suggest, but do not require, all authors to place their papers under the Creative Commons license.
- Please see <http://www.pythonpapers.org/instAuthor.html> for the preferred formats of submission.
- Please submit your papers at <http://ojs.pythonpapers.org/index.php/tppm/author>

For more details, see

<http://apac.pycon.org/conference>.

Proposal submission is open now!